We are still preparing the map for the soil data. Let me review the map you received again to figure out your observation. I will get back to you.

Hi:

I am now starting to look at the data you have submitted while I was off. Just looking at the last map you sent. You have repeated data in the windows. Am I missing something?

Are we done with all maps and data for NFB and HTC? If you recall, I requested an area calculation for NFB and HTC in order for us to calculate worst case scenario on how much soil we need to excavate. Preliminarily, I would use a depth of two feet.

I will send you info I have for CRU from August 18th. I thought you had what I had.
